

Transition Boxes

Transition Boxes are Rubbermaid Boxes or Duffle Bags in which you put your gear for that designated race leg. For instance, a “Boat Transition Box” may hold your PFD, some water, food, and a towel for afterwards. A “Bike Transition Box” may hold your water bottles, food, extra bike tools, a spare change of socks, your bike shoes, helmet, etc.

We use these transition boxes to transport your gear to the appropriate location for you and to ensure that your gear is kept together during transport. Loose items are not guaranteed to be transported, so make sure all of your gear is contained.

Big Mountain Adventure recommends boxes over duffle bags as these are easier to stack without destroying items inside. Boxes are also water-proof in the event of a downpour. You are responsible for making sure all of your gear is in your box and stowed away before leaving the transition area during the race, otherwise it may get mixed up with someone else's gear.

Always label your transition boxes on the outside with your team name and number.
